Vol. 3—No. 57 GLENDALE, CALIFORNIA, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 7, 1923 THREE CENTS

Our City comment & discussion by THOMAS D. WATSON

Lower P. E. Fare or Local Bus Lines? Which?

A HEARING was held yesterday before the state railroad commission on the application of the Glendale Motor Bus Co. for a permit to run busses from Los Angeles to Glendale.

Examiner Handford presided over the meeting, which nearly ended in a row, Mr. Handford claiming that the whole matter appeared "hazy" and that he intended to thoroughly investigate the plan before rendering a decision.

Attorney Gardner, representing the Pacific Electric, the chief opponent of the petitioner, indicated that it appeared to be a stock-selling scheme.

WE do not care to pass on the merits of the Glendale Motor Bus Co.; that is up to the commission to decide. We do know that unless the Pacific Electric Co. reduces fares in Glendale, our only salvation will be through motor busses.

We Glendalians desire to be perfectly fair in the matter. We recognize that the Pacific Electric has a big investment in Glendale, but it is difficult to see any justice in the present high rate. We can see no legitimate reason for Glendale's rate to be so much higher than the Hollywood rate when the distance is about the same. We are inclined to think we are being discriminated against.

* * *

THE Glendale line is reputed to be the best paying branch of the Pacific Electric system, yet the rate on the mileage basis is the highest on the system. It is too much like putting a premium on inefficiency.

Glendale must have lower fares. It is only just that we should have them. How are we going to get them? Will the Pacific Electric recognize the justice of our claims or will we be forced to start a bus line?

No doubt the raliroad commission will grant a permit for a bus line to run between Glendale and Los Angeles when the people of Glendale decide that one is wanted, and when that time comes, which we believe is not very far off, Glendalians will get what they go after.

* * *

THE hearing of the petition of Mr. George Montgomery, asking that the city council be enjoined permanently from paying out any more money for Glendale-Verdugo park and the thirty-three acres recently purchased on San Fernando road, will be held tomorrow in Los Angeles in the superior court at 10 o'clock in the morning.

Several Glendale citizens will most likely attend the hearing, as a great deal of interest has been aroused.

City Attorney Shaw advises that he does not anticipate any trouble in having the temporary injunction dissolved, while Attorney John Everson, who is attorney for the plaintiff, claims that the purchases were in violation of the state constitution and expects to be upheld in this view.

Meanwhile the citizens of Glendale will sit on the side lines, reserving judgment until decision on the application is rendered.

Where's Hackenschmidt? Here's Another Man Who Wants to Mat Him

Will somebody please page "Hack."

He's wanted.

"Butch" Metzetti of 5341 Melrose avenue, Hollywood, would like to get hold of John Hackensmidt, the wrestling pride of Glendale. He thinks he can pin Hack's shoulders to the mat in short order.

He says he's ready to go.

"And I got $50, cash money, that says I can do it," says "Buitch." "Money speaks loud."

Even before this challenge appeared in print "Hack" heard about it and "wirelessed" his acceptance. He is having a little trouble with his eyes, but will be well within a few days, he says.

He is ready to sign with anyone who can show $500, he declared.

That's what you call real Glendale spirit.

BURBANK JUSTICE OF PEACE CHASE IS BUSY MAN

Fines One for Brush Fire, Sentences Two for Heart Kind

Weaver Smith, a teacher in Los Angeles schools, who owns property in Tuna Canyon, and who is improving the same for residential purposes, let a brush fire get away from him and was before Justice Harry W. Chase last Friday, it being his second offense of that character. He was fined $25.

A more interesting case came before Justice Chase Monday afternoon, but in reporting it he did not state the amount of the fine. The parties were William Graham Carter of Burbank, and Miss Irene T. Spain of Los Angeles, who had exposed themselves to Cupid's darts and wished to be made one. The justice was equal to the demand and in the presence of his law partner, Leslie R. Tarr, and his stenographer, Mrs. Dallas Malone, tied the knot good and hard. It apparently did not pinch for Mr. and Mrs. Carter were smiling when they left. They intimated they would make their home in Los Angeles.

TUESDAY CLUB GETS KNABE PIANO

Los Angeles Firm Cuts Price and Pays for Big Concert

BIG SAVING EFFECTED

Distinguished Artists to Appear on Thursday, March 22

A big undertaking towards the furnishing of the new Tuesday Afternoon club home has been the purchasing of a Knabe concert grand piano by the music section of the club, of which Mrs. Warren Roberts is curator. Various forms of entertainment and parties have been given and are being planned towards securing funds for the piano fund.

Through the generosity of the Fitzgerald Music company of Los Angeles three such prominent artists as Brahm Van den Berg, pianist; Calmon Luboviski, violinist, and Flora Myers Engel, dramatic and lyric soprano, have been secured for a program to be given at the new Tuesday Afternoon club home on the evening of Thursday, March 22, at 8:15 o'clock. One hundred percent of the profits will be for the piano fund. The expense of securing the artists, which amounts to several hundred dollars, will be paid by the Fitzgerald Piano company. The Knabe concert grand piano for the auditorium of the club home was purchased from this firm for $835 less than it could have been secured for elsewhere, according to officers of the music section.

Mr. Van den Berg is a resident of Glendale and needs no introduction as a master pianist. He has appeared throughout the United States and Europe in concerts and solo work with wonderful success. Mr. Luboviski, Russian violinist, recently appeared before the members of the Glendale Music club, and has given concerts for the Tuesday Afternoon club on previous occasions. He is one of the foremost violinists of the younger generation. Flora Myers Engel received her musical education in Baltimore, Md., under Dr. S. Kimball of Washington, D. C. Mrs. Engel has done light opera and has a wide experience in concert work, She appeared as soloist last year at the Hollywood bowl.

The members of the Music section will act as ushers and also be members of a reception committee on the evening of March 22.

According to Mrs. Roberts, curator, the Fitzgerald Music company of Los Angeles, has the largest sale of Knabe pianos of any agency outside of where the piano is manufactured and on communicating with the factory was authorized to make the price given to the music section, the difference being charged off by them to the advertising fund.

SCHOOL BONDS ARE ENDORSED BY C. OF C.

Board of Directors Hear Discussion by W. E. Hewitt

The issuance of bonds to the extent of $500,000 for school purposes, an election for which will be held soon, was endorsed by the board of directors of the Glendale chamber of commerce at its meeting at 4:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

The matter of the bond issue was brought before the board by Vice President W. E. Hewitt, who told briefly of the needs of the schools at this time. He stated that during the past year the enrollment of the schools of Glendale grew about 800, and the chances are that during the coming year at least 1000 pupils will enrol. If the bonds are not voted it will result in the children having half-time sessions. It was moved by Hewitt and seconded by George Bentley that the board go on record as endorsing the passage of the bonds. The motion passed unanimously.

W. L. Twining reported that the proposed newspaper advertising stunt has been dropped by the Glendale Realty board. Similar action was taken by the chamber.

Publicity Director McCormack reported that the nameplate drive is going over in fine style.

The coming merchants' exposition was talked over and Mr. Leavitt, promoter, reported on various phases of the proposition, stating that everything is going along satisfactorily.

The invitation received from the Altadena chamber of commerce, to attend the opening of the elaborate lighting system at that place on March 10 at 8 p. m., was accepted.

That the next meeting of the board will be held at the Harriett Mae Tea rooms at the corner of Maryland and Harvard, was decided by the boafd.

FOOTHILL FOLKS ENDORSE BOND ISSUE

Newby and Mitchell Urge Registered Voters to Line Up

There was an average attendance at the meeting of the Foothill Improvement Club Tuesday evening at the Grand View school and a good many matters of local interest were discussed.

The first to be taken up was mail service. Those present made it clear that the citizens of the northwest are quite indignant over the fact that in spite of being a part of Glendale they cannot receive their mail within the city in which they live, a service to which they feel they are entitled.

O. M. Newby and Alexander Mitchell urged all registered voters to cast their ballots for the elementary school bonds and announcement was made that the Grand View P.-T. A. will entertain during voting hours at the Grand View school from which machines will carry voters to the polls. Coffee will be served by them at noon.

Mrs. Elsperman reported she had received encouragement from the Pacific Electric that extra cars would be put on to relieve the overcrowded Burbank trains.

Rhode Island Reds Are Generous Birds

Not to be outdone along the egg line, W. J. Fleener, 356 Myrtle street, called at the Press office Monday to exhibit three eggs that had been presented to him by a couple of his "biddies," both Rhode Island Reds.

These 3 eggs each measured 7¾ inches in circumference one way and 7 inches the other.

One pullet laid four eggs of about this size in six days, says Mr. Fleener, all of which is "going some."

Who has the next egg story?

Checks or money may be sent to Mrs. Plasterer.

MONTROSE IS TALKING OF PARKS

Members of the Chamber of Commerce Discuss Many Propositions

Montrose, March 7.—Members of the chamber of commerce met last night with the president, J. L. Brown in the chair. Among the important subjects under discussion was the establishing of small parks in Montrose. The board of supervisors has given trees and shrubs for these parks with the understanding that the chamber of commerce will take care of same. The question of changing the name of Montrose to Montrose Center, was suggested to make it possible to have a postoffice at Montrose.

Red danger lights are to be placed on the most prominent street corners, through the activities of the chamber of commerce.

It was decided to place the lot, owned by the chamber of commerce, on the market, as the school to be built in Montrose will be used for all public meetings. A trolley station at Honolulu and Montrose avenues is another improvement for Montrose and will be built by the Glendale-Montrose railway. The disagreeable feature of unloading lumber and freight on Montrose avenue was discussed and a committee appointed to interview the proper authorities.

C. Rinhard withdrew his name for school trustee to be elected in the Crescenta district, March 30. F. H. Anderson made a motion that a resolution be adopted to support C. S. Culberson, the retiring trustee, for re-election, which resolution was unanimously adopted.

DEATH FOR KILLING IN BOOZE SALE

Mid-West Legislatures Consider Bills Fixing Capital Penalty

POISON LIQUOR DRIVE

Strengthening of Measures to Control Traffic, Is Urged in Five States

[By Associated Press]

CHICAGO, March 7.—Five midwestern state legislatures have passed or are considering bills to punish sellers of intoxicants that cause death. The penalty imposed is either a murder or a manslaughter sentence and in some cases applies equally in event the liquor is given away.

The drive against poisonous liquor is the common denominator of all the legislation proposed to strengthen prohibition laws in more than a dozen mid-western states, which this week are mostly entering the important active sessions.

In Kansas a bill is pending to make it murder to sell or to give away intoxicants that cause death. In Oklahoma a similar measure with the murder penalty for either selling or giving away already is a law. In Iowa the senate has passed a bill making the sale of such liquor manslaughter. In Ohio a bill has been passed and signed making the furnishing of such liquor second degree murder.

Michigan has pending a bill making sale of liquor that causes death manslaughter, while in Indiana a bill making the penalty murder for selling or giving away fatal liquor was indefinitely postponed.

Other legislation embraces a variety of proposed enforcement laws, with few instances of wet activity.

In Wisconsin wets have announced that they propose to try to make it illegal to search for liquor, except when absolute knowledge is had of manufacture for sale, and they have considered memorializing congress to modify the Volstead act.

Minnesota has pending a joint resolution to ask congress not to modify the Volstead act.

Possession in Oklahoma of any apparatus for manufacture of liquor, except by proper license, is now a felony under a bill enacted by the present session.

Texas has several measures pending, including one for removal of state officials if intoxicated on or off duty.

Nebraska has pending a bill to prohibit possession of intoxicants and another making the destruction of bottles or other containers during arrest prima facie evidence of violation of liquor laws.

A proposed law in Iowa making the purchaser equally guilty with the seller was killed by the senate. That body adopted a bill to seize vehicles transporting liquor. In Illinois wets have pending a proposal to repeal state prohibition regulation acts.

A course in the study of investment principles was begun Monday evening in the Glendale Union high school evening school.

Low Building Company Starts Construction

The Low Building company, which represents the Pacific Ready Cut company in Glendale, has started the construction on its new office at 416-18 East Colorado, just west of Glendale avenue.

The business of this company has grown so rapidly during the past year that new and larger quarters are absolutely necessary. The office will be at the rear of the lot and a "sample" bungalow will be located at the front.

At different times during the past three weeks articles have been stolen from the St. Mark's Episcopal church, according to a report given the local police department by Rev. Kemp, pastor. Among the things taken were a silver pitcher, a silver baptismal bowl and some wine. An investigation is being made of this case.

COST OF LIVING IN L. A. IS GOING UPWARD NOW

Federal Reserve Agent Compiles Some Interesting Statistics

[By Associated Press]

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., Mar. 7.—The cost of living in San Francisco, Oakland, Los Angeles, Seattle, Portland and the entire United States turned definitely upward during 1922, according to a report just issued here by John Perrin, chairman of the board and federal reserve agent of the Federal Reserve bank of San Francisco.

In the last quarter of the year the cost of living increased in all reporting cities in the west, Mr. Perrin says. From September to December, 1922, the following increases in food, clothing, housing, fuel, light and furniture are given by the Federal Reserve bank head:

Food—San Francisco and Oakland, 3.1 percent; Los Angeles, 4.0 percent; Seattle, 1.7 percent; Portland, 3.2 percent; entire United States, 4.8 percent.

Clothing—San Francisco and Oakland, .3 percent; Los Angeles, .1 percent; Seattle, .1; Portland, .9; entire United States, .1 percent.

Housing — San Francisco and Oakland, .2; Los Angeles, .2; Seattle, .1; Portland, .06; entire United States, 4 percent.

Fuel and light—San Francisco and Oakland, .3 percent; Los Angeles, .2 percent; Seattle, .2; Portland, 4.2; entire United States, 1.4 percent.

Furniture — San Francisco and Oakland, .7; Los Angeles, 4.3; Seattle, .6; Portland, 2.5; entire United States, 2.6 percent.

Miscellaneous — San Francisco and Oakland, .4; Los Angeles, .4; Seattle, .4; Portland, .6; entire United States, 1.9 percent.

The percentage increases in all items for the various cities and the entire United States are: San Francisco and Oakland, 1.0; Los Angeles, 1.2; Seattle, 1.6; Portland, 1.2; entire United States, 1.9.

Mr. Perrin says: "Little uniformity in the movement of separate items of the family budget in the five cities can be noted. Declines, where they have persisted, have been small while advances, particularly in foods, furniture, and house furnishings, have been relatively large. The reported increase in the total cost of living follows the rise in wholesale prices, which was observable during the whole of 1922, and is not surprising nor unexpected.

"According to the United States Bureau of Labor's index numbers, they were 13 percent higher in January, 1923, than in January, 1922.

TUTANKHAMEN IS NEW ARBITER OF STYLES

So Indicates Mrs. Earl Pendroy, Just Returned from Gotham

Mrs. Earl Pendroy is eloquent in her expression of thankfulness over leaving bleak, windy, snowy, frigid New York for sunny California, but she had some interesting experiences while there and has news, almost sensational, of the manner in which the arbiters of fashion have utilized the discoveries made in the tomb of King Tutankhamen at Luxor. They have given a great impulse to the Egyptian art motif that is to dominate spring creations and mills are already busy turning out fabrics in the royal colors and designs. Mrs. Pendroy had the pleasure of seeing the first collection taken from the tomb that was rushed to New York. Thus does a king dead thousands of years influence a very different world from that he knew. Because of this influence the color schemes that dominate the spring mode are vivid and alluring, she says.

However, the styles are not standardized but rather encourage individuality, giving a wide range of choice in color and mode. As usual, shoes and gloves must be in keeping, and to be complete, every costume must be adorned with one or more pieces of costume jewelry, and a kerchief attached to the wrist by strap or chain bracelet.

Felt hats, she reports, are still in favor for spring wear, but must be draped with bright colored silk to be the last word in style, but milady must have at least one large hat garnished with a touch of dainty lace or one of the new shaped veils which lend grace and soften the contour of the face.

The stocks which Mrs. Pendroy purchased are arriving in daily consignments and Mrs. Pendroy is finding herself very busy meeting the regular patrons of the store who want to see what she has secured from the markets of the world and also to have her help in choosing their spring costumes.

SANTA MONICA CONSIDERS THE HYPERION ROAD

A meeting of the Santa Monica boulevard board of trade was held at Beverly Hills, Monday night, with an attendance from eight of the allied associations. S. S. Gilhuly represented the Glendale Chamber of Commerce and spoke of the interest of Glendale in the extension of Santa Monica boulevard into Glendale boulevard, by means of the Hyperion avenue viaduct project, which will join it with a great new bridge and thus be the beginning of Santa Monica boulevard on its way to the sea.

The street work and sewer plans for Hyperion avenue are almost completed in the Los Angeles city engineer's office and will be ready for routine publication within a month. This is distinct from York boulevard and the Silver Lake project. They are not within three-fourths of a mile of Santa Monica boulevard.

Alvaro Platt of Laurel Canyon presented a plan for loading alleys along the whole course of the boulevard on both sides. He gave a clear picture in terms of statistics and facts of the inevitable vastness and importance of this sixteen mile boulevard as the direct outlet to the sea from Glendale and Pasadena and pointed out that all seaward traffic would be logically drawn through Santa Monica boulevard. He said this would be true not only because that by way of Hyperion avenue it would be the shortest route but because it has the best grade of all the roadways, and that city trucking would take the same course.

Mrs. MacCloskey-Limned gave a picture of the establishment of small parks along the line, a subject of social and esthetic value.

The lighting plans for the boulevard are also nearing completion. The matter of industrial development along but not on the boulevard, was also discussed, it being the idea of the board of trade that the frontage on the boulevard be maintained as a business street all along the way. The necessity of industrial development was dwelt upon especially for the Beverly Hills district of the "Y" and where there has already been activity in the Highland region.

Reports of regional needs of the boulevard as, represented by the various allied associations have been called for and that of the Santa Monica-Highland civic center was read, as well as that of the Hollywood Improvement association. The latter reported the circulation of a petition for the widening of Santa Monica boulevard at Sanborn junction.

The board will hold its next meeting on Monday, March 19, under the auspices of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce.

ELEVATION OF APFFEL WINS APPROVAL

New Exalted Ruler of Glendale Elkdom is Popular Member

The elevation to the office of Exalted Ruler of James Apffel appears to give very general satisfaction to Glendale Elks among whom "Jimmy" Apffel is decidedly popular, both by reason of his winning personality and his devotion to Elkdom in general and the Glendale lodge in particular. A short business session will follow in which Architect Alfred Priest will formally present the building to Mrs. Charles E. Hutchinson, chairman of the club's building committee, and she in turn will present it to Mrs. Daniel Campbell, representing the club as its president.

The program will be in the nature of a pageant of women in history which will be presented by members of the drama section of which Mrs. R. E. Chase is curator, assisted by members of the music section.

On the Monday afternoon preceding this public reception, the club will have open house to all comers who wish to inspect its beautiful home, the only program being numbers by an orchestra of harp, violin and cello, provided by Mrs. Enona Hopkins.

LITERARY SECTION HAS IRISH MOTIF IN SESSION

A bit of old Ireland in song and humorous stories, and the latest news of science and invention was the special feature of the meeting of the literary section of the Tuesday Afternoon club, held Tuesday afternoon, March 6, at the home of Mrs. C. J. Higgins, 247 North Jackson street, with Mrs. J. E. Sargent, curator, in charge of the business session:

Plans were discussed for the section's "Husbands' night" when members will be allowed to bring husbands and one couple as guests. This meeting will be held in two weeks at the new Tuesday Afternoon club home. The program will be on "California." A. F. Newcomb of Los Angeles will show some motion pictures on development in Southern California, and there will be other features of entertainment. Miss Elizabeth Mottern will sing and Mrs. Rosenberg will put on some community games. The curator appointed a refreshment committee, composed of Mesdames Wilcox, Walton, Hollingsworth and Rapp. The hostesses appointed were Mesdames Ayars, McKee, Verity and Sawyer.

Roll call was answered with limericks and Irish stories by the following: Mrs. J. E. Sargent, Mrs. Harry Wilcox, Mrs. McDougall, Mrs. R. F. Kitterman, Mrs. Straith-Miller, Mrs. A. P. McBoyle, Mrs. Balthis, Mrs. Robert McMullen, Mrs. V. Rapp, Mrs. Walton, Mrs. C. J. Higgins, Mrs. F. C. Ayars, Mrs. E. Cleophas, Mrs. W. H. Verity, Mrs E. S. McKee, Mrs. Gallagher, Mrs. A. R. Eastman, Mrs. Edgar Leavitt, Mrs. Garlinghouse, Mrs. E. W. W. Hayward, Mrs. E. W. Gilliland, Mrs. G. H. Rowe and Mrs. Homer Lockwood.

Mrs. E. W. Gilliland read a very interesting paper on "The Latest News of Science and Invention," taking up the topics of the helicopter, radio, printing and canning.

Mrs. E. S. McKee spoke relative to the school bond election. A review of the book, "Children of the Market Place" (Edgar Lee Masters) was given by Mrs. Rapp. A very pleasing group of Irish songs was given by Mrs. Straith-Miller, who rendered "An Irish Folk Song," "An Irish Mothers' Lullaby" and responded to an encore.

Stories that portrayed the Irish philosophy was the very enjoyable contribution to the program given by Mrs. Willats of Los Angeles. She told also of the presentation of Mother Goose pageant to the score of grand opera music which was most successfully given in the vicinity of Oakland and Berkeley and which might be produced in Glendale in May for the benefit of the Tuesday Afternoon club house. No action has been taken on this and the matter was discussed informally.

At the close of the afternoon the hostess served refreshments, assisted by Mrs. Balthis.

The Missouri Society of Los Angeles County will hold their monthly reunion and dance next Tuesday night at the Disabled War Veterans' Hall, 246 South Hill street. An invitation is extended to all visiting Missourians and their friends to attend and enjoy a program of music and songs. There will be dancing in which old-time numbers will be featured.

LEGION WOMEN HAVE PLEASANT SURPRISE

Members of the Women's Auxiliary of the Glendale Post, American Legion, had a pleasant surprise at their meeting Monday afternoon in the altered appearance of the legion hall, which has been redecorated by the post.

One of the first items of business was the initiation of Mrs. Dale Fish into membership.

Visitors and chief speakers of the day were Mesdames Decker and Hall of Los Angeles who told of the origin of the legion hut in that city and how the idea first came to Mrs. Hall. They reported it is now more than paying its way and that enlargement will be necessary.

Announcement was made of the benefit which Mrs. Pearl Keller Brattain is giving for the auxiliary in a program to be presented by pupils at the Pearl Kellar school next Thursday evening. The tickets have been placed at 35 cents for adults with a reduced price of 25 cents for children, and members hope the entertainment will be liberally patronized by all friends of the auxiliary and of the school. The organization has to keep constantly replenishing its treasury to secure the funds with which to purchase materials for the children's clothing and layettes it is constantly manufacturing to meet the needs of families of ex-service men.

At the Monday meeting reports indicated that $65 had been realized to date from the calendar stunt which members undertook for the raising of money.

Truths in Epigram

I venerate old age, and love not the man who can look without emotion upon the sunset of life. —Longfellow.

There is no space between consecutive thoughts, or between the never-ending series of action. —Holmes.

One's age should be tranquil, as one's childhood should be playful.—Thomas Arnold.

RADIUM TO PROLONG LIFE

A man conversant enough with radium to have earned the title of expert, ventures the opinion that the introduction of the substance into the human system is destined to prolong life. He intimates that the normal period of longevity may by this method be advanced to 150 years. There have been experiments with plants that seem to indicate the rejuvenating effects of radium. That this is any sign that similar or analogous treatment would have benign effect on human tissue and stamina, is at the present stage of knowledge the merest guess. The desire to live 150 years is far from being so general as might be supposed hastily. Nobody survives such span now, and those passing the century mark, seldom are surrounded by conditions that make their position enviable. A normal life of 150 years would utterly change sociological and economic problems. The changes might be embarrassing rather than satisfactory.

This expert does not believe in the use of glands for restoration of bodily vigor. So far as may be discerned nobody else believes in the gland theory carried to such excess. Of course there are exceptional cases of faith. The enthusiast who is making money by the process, heralds his triumphs, and hopeful, doddering age, recalling the charms of youth, fancies that it may clothe its worn and rattling bones with the activity of other days. In instances of seeming cure or betterment, there is reason to suspect that the operation of mental influence upon matter has found a fresh manifestation.

However, the expert is quite welcome to try out his beliefs, provided he is able to catch subjects willing to be experimented upon. Meanwhile life is quite likely to pursue the ordinary course of flickering out according to about the regular schedule. Years have been added to the average, but this has not been due to taking radium shots in the arm.

THE TYPICAL OUTLAW

It is plain that in the underworld, the aggregate of criminals operating against law and order, there are many who may as well be regarded as beyond reform. They have no desire to lead any different life than the one they have chosen. They leave to society no choice but to restrain or kill them. Efforts expended to awaken proper ambitions in them represent wasted energy.

Sunday night the police of Los Angeles and nearby places had desperate encounters with thieves. Several men were wounded and one of the thieves shot dead. The victim of the officer's weapon turned out to be one Tom Garwood. This man had served a term in the penitentiary for his connection with a crime of violence years ago. Since coming out he had been regarded as allied with the same class of associates he had sought before. Only recently he had been arrested for harboring a murderer who had escaped from jail. Morally certain of his guilt, the authorities were unable to convict him. His narrow escape should have been a lesson to him, but it was not. Almost immediately he was engaged in robbery, and fully equipped to do murder. This time luck was against him. The police shot more accurately.

Doubtless this outcome was the best that could have crowned the episode. Had he been captured there would have been the expense and uncertainty of trial. Had he been convicted, a kindly parole board would have released him long before expiration of his term, and in all probability he would have resumed his activities. Now society is rid of him.

Much is being said and written about criminal court procedure. Too little emphasis is laid on the necessity of punishing the offender, and making him understand that his course is not to be pursued safely. When the police, in line of duty, kill one of the Garwood type, no adverse criticism is likely to be made of the procedure. It may be crude, but it is in the interests of justice, and promotive of security.

CUBAN INGRATITUDE

Recently, and on the birthday anniversary of Lincoln, Cuban authorities ordered the lowering of the American flag on the Isle of Pines. The incident provokes query as to what sort of a creature the Cuban may be. There surely is absent from him all quality of gratitude, and his powers of appreciation are limited severely.

Twice now has the United States gone to the rescue of Cuba, each time from altruistic motive. Any other nation on which the sun shines, being in the position of this country, would have taken Cuba long ago. The opportunity to take it was thrust upon a people opposed to conquest. They rejected it. The world marveled at the spectacle.

Cuba was given authority over the Isle of Pines. That an aggregation of mixed breeds, already demonstrated to be unfit to govern itself, should have been granted rule over anybody else, probably was a tactical error. That Americans on the Isle of Pines should have desired to display the flag in honor of the greatest of Americans was natural and proper. For this exhibition to have been permitted, and participated in by Cuban officials, would have been response to the ordinary impulse of decency.

Doubtless in due time the Cubans will have to be rescued again, and their feet once more set in the paths of social order that the natives have not sense enough to travel unaided. When that time comes, the islanders should be given not only lessons in industry, commerce and government, but a course in manners.

The season for heated arguments is now open.

SENATORIAL DIGNITY.

That the senate is the most dignified legislative body in the world is a frequent assertion. Perhaps at times this is true of it. It has periods of severely decorous somnolence. Again, it will indulge in a childish filibuster. The honorable gentlemen, on other occasions, hurl epithets at each other. Recently, as stated by reliable correspondents, one senator was so drunk at the capitol that his associates had to restrain him by force from going upon the floor and uttering his alcoholic content in the form of speech. Since then a senator has indulged in a street fight with a man much smaller than himself. It becomes proper to think of the senate not as a unit, but as a collection of individuals. It is not logical to suppose that the whole will be on a plane above the average of its parts.

The small man who was beaten up by a large senator has taken the matter into court, asking damages. Let it be hoped that before the bar of justice neither poundage nor position will count, but that if the allegations are true the senator shall "get what is coming to him" as the saying is.

The country would be glad of the privilege of being proud of the senate, but as that distinguished body fritters away its time in defeat of wholesome measures, in quarrels, and (as to some members) violates the laws of the land by getting drunk and disorderly, the privilege is withdrawn, and the impulse to admire is stifled without difficulty, yet with regret.

Dr. Ferdinand Seegar, who recently died in poor quarters on the East Side in New York, had given up a lucrative practice in order to administer to the lowly and unfortunate. He had won high professional honors. These seemed less to him than the privilege of doing what he conceived to be his duty. He had helped many, so that thousands had called him blessed, and they came in throngs to mourn.

A CASE FOR COUE

By DR. FRANK CRANE

I have received an interesting letter from which I quote as follows:

"I spent some time in the city of New York with my ignorance as a side partner. I arrived strong in mind and body, but hard work and eating in lunch rooms such food as coffee, doughnuts, etc., soon worked hard on my nerves, besides giving me pimples and boils.

Dr. Frank Crane

A depressed state of mind and worry soon got me, and, worst of all, I became subject to chronic fear.

"I have now been home a long time and have regained my health, and my nerves are back to normal, but fear remains. This fear is not lack of courage, because death does not scare me nor does anything human or actual. But certain thoughts arouse a sickening fear in my mind; for instance, working in a certain place, I become conscious of some kind of a noise. It seems impossible to draw my attention away from that noise and somehow it makes me afraid. Meeting a blind man, the thought of myself going blind occasions a distressing fear in my mind. Reason does no good. I have had a thousand fears. They come and go; in fact, every doubt makes me fear.

"The only relief I get is turning my mind upon something else, but that is no cure. Once the fear thought is set in my mind it is like a magnet which draws everything toward it. The harder I try to get rid of it, the harder it sticks."

Here is a typical case for the Coue treatment. In other words, this is exactly the sort of trouble that can be cured by the intelligent use of the imagination, or by deliberate and continual autosuggestion.

These fears come up from this man's subconsciousness and he cannot control them because they are beneath his will. He says that the only relief he gets is turning his mind to some other subject, but that is no cure. He is mistaken. That is precisely the cure.

The deliberate turning the mind to other things, the constant, daily and hourly selection of wholesome and cheerful subjects to think upon, will in time dry up these running sores of terror. And this is a practical method.

The cure of any disease comes from the power of the healthy organism. This man and all others similarly afflicted should first of all see that their bodies are sound and healthy and that they have plenty of physical exercise and wholesome food. In the second place, they should see to it that their minds are turned only upon wholesome and cheerful topics as much as may be possible.

No man can cure himself by his will any more than he can lift himself up by his boot-straps. But what he can do with his will is to control by it his imagination and his environment, so that the pictures presented before his mind are of such a character as shall give poise and strength to destroy the poisons that feed his perversion.

M. Coue's plan will not cure a broken leg nor put back an extracted tooth, but it can cure the kind of trouble this man has, and it is about the only sort of thing that will cure it.

THE RIGHT WORD

By W. CURTIS NICHOLSON

HAD HE "LAIN" THE BOOK?

The answer is "No!"

One should never say, "He had lain the book on the table."

Laid is the right word; as, He has laid the book on the table.

"The Right Word" on February 5, asserted that it is correct to say, "He has lain the book on the table"; but lain was a typographical error. It got in by mistake and usurped the place of the right word laid.

The following examples illustrate the wrong and the right use of the words laid and lain:

1. Wrong: He has lain the money on your desk.
1. Right: He has laid the money on your desk.
2. Wrong: His coat has laid on the chair for some time.
2. Right: His coat has lain on the chair for some time.
3. Wrong: She has lain the paper on the shelf.
3. Right: She had laid the paper on the shelf.
4. Wrong: The proposal had laid in the hands of the committee for a week.
4. Right: The proposal had lain in the hands of the committee for a week.

It will be noted that when any object, living or inanimate, even an abstract idea, is represented as reclining, the right word to use with has or had is lain.

"The Right Word" acknowledges the many letters that have been received on this subject.

THE LISTENING POST

By James W. Foley

JAMES W. FOLEY

Discipline.

That is a necessary thing in life.

If we are to be other than uncontrolled beings running amuck.

Self control is the chief difference between human beings and lesser beings.

Although in the higher of the lesser beings we find self control developed.

Discipline.

* * *

There is the hunting dog for instance.

Taught to restrain his impulse to make a run for his quarry.

Discipline to stand at a point.

Until his master learns that there are game birds at hand.

And the horse.

Trained to the harness and the saddle.

* * *

But the lack of discipline marks the lower animals.

They know nothing of self control.

They are merely things of appetite and savage impulse and sleep.

Undisciplined.

* * *

If we search through the places of detention known as prisons we find one of the chief causes of crime to be lack of discipline.

The individual has not learned self restraint.

The savage primal impulses are not checked.

* * *

There is no agreement to the conventions by which society is enabled to survive.

And the undisciplined individual is apprehended and detained.

Because he has been undisciplined.

And the lack of discipline and self control means menace.

* * *

The undisciplined youngster knows no self restraint.

He knows only force.

He has not been trained that self control is necessary.

The individual who fears only control by force and who knows nothing of self control is bound for the port of disaster.

* * *

And discipline is sometimes not altogether understood.

Problems in mathematics may seem of little import to the laggard student.

But they are for the training of the mind.

Just as discipline is for the training of the will.

* * *

Certain manners and customs and properties are merely in the way of social discipline.

We agree to them and conform to them for the sake of a disciplined social organization.

Certain conventions are not necessarily indispensable.

They are disciplinary.

* * *

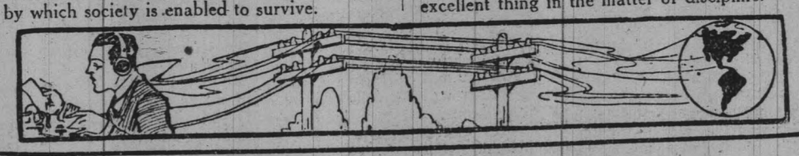
The man who yields to the tendency to shirk soon becomes an idler.

The man who yields to every appetite soon becomes depraved.

The man who yields to every impulse soon becomes uncertain and unstable.

* * *

A little self imposed restraint every day is an excellent thing in the matter of discipline.



Songs of the Poets

Little Things—By Orrick Johns, in "Asphalt"

There's nothing very beautiful and nothing very gay
About the rush of faces in the town by day,
But a light tan cow in a pale green mead,
That is very beautiful, beautiful indeed—
And the soft March wind and the low March mist
Are better than kisses in a dark street kissed.

The fragrance of a forest when it wakes at dawn,
The fragrance of a trim green village lawn,
The hearing of the murmur of the rain at play—
These things are beautiful, beautiful as day!
And I shan't stand waiting for love or scorn
When the feast is laid for a day new-born.

Oh, better let the little things I loved when little
Return when the heart finds the great things brittle;
And better is a temple made of bark and thong
Than a tall stone temple that may stand too long.

CONSULTANT MORALISTS

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

We are going to have them. This on the authority of Dr. Walter B. Pitkin, associate professor of philosophy in Columbia University.

To be sure we have them now; but we call them psychoanalysts. The trouble with them is, however, that psychoanalysis is still in an experimental stage and it does not always work out. A science is not entitled to its name until it can function invariably, accurately and in such a way that its results can be predicted beforehand.

Now a consultant moralist is supposed to be a person who knows why people behave as they do and who can tell them how to behave more acceptably.

The most conspicuous example of bad behavior is the domestic triangle, for there never would or could be such a thing unless somebody did as he shouldn't.

According to Dr. Pitkin, no divorces will in future—by that I mean on and after the year 2023—be granted except after consultation and on the advice of the consultant moralists, who would, it seems to me, be better named moral engineers.

When the consultant moralists gets busy on a case they will put a stop to bickerings and make everybody keep still until they have decided who is in the wrong. Suppose, for example, that a wife has invited to her home a fluffy infant with a set of ravishing dimples and a heart that is seared and selfish, and the "infant" gets busy on the vanity of friend husband. Will she break the home?

She will not. On the contrary the moral engineering corps of the local divorce court will expose the "infant's" machinations, also her moral deformities and have her suitably punished for the treachery of which she has been guilty.

For it is certain that most triangles occur because some man invited into the home of a friend betrays that friend's trust or because some woman sheltered in a home is base enough to attempt to destroy it. Moral engineers ought to advise the punishment of such people.

Their "punishment" now consists mostly of a marriage founded on the wreckage of another's happiness which their selfishness has created.

By all means speed the day of the consultant moralist. We need him.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

TOO OLD AT 51?

[New York Herald]

The Evening Journal, one of Mr. Hearst's newspapers, complains that Comptroller Craig is "too old to be of any great use in the public service." Mr. Craig is 51 years old. Mr. Hearst himself will be 60 in April. Mayor Hylan is nearly 55. Governor Smith will be 50 his next birthday. Charles F. Murphy is 64.

At 51 Milton was just plunging into "Paradise Lost."

At 51 Washington still had the presidency before him. Only eight of our presidents were inaugurated before they were 51.

At 51 Gladstone was chancellor of the exchequer, with all his greatest achievements ahead.

At 51 Darwin had not yet written "The Descent of Man."

At 51 Henry James was getting ready to write "What Maisie Knew."

At 51 Morse had not seen the telegraph in public use.

At 51 P. T. Barnum was only making up his mind to start a circus.

If Methuselah had died at 51 nobody would ever mention his name.

Of course there are historical characters that achieved the summit of their fame before 51. Mr. Hearst's newspaper may have been thinking of Aristotle, but even he might have done more if he had lived to be 51.

EBB MONTHS

[Portland Press-Herald]

February and March are declared by the Life Extension Institute to be the ebb months of human vitality. Pneumonia and influenza reap more victims during these two months than any others and more than twice the number of deaths from various causes are recorded in February and March than in July.

This institute, which is doing splendid work, advocates that everyone get examined by a competent physician at this time of year and take their advice as to how to build up the system and safeguard the health. "Do not neglect a cold. Do not overtax your strength. Do not unnecessarily expose yourself to the elements." These are the maxims it promulgates and they are excellent ones to adhere to.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

Recently a group of thoughtful men gathered to discuss the merits and demerits of criminal procedure in American courts. The chief speaker was a superior judge. He told of the methods that resulted in delay. Then there followed general comment.

HENRY JAMES.

A tendency was manifest to blame the newspapers. Proponents of such opinion had much on which to base their argument. The newspaper habit of trying cases in advance, of creating an aura of heroism and romance for some he or she assassin, is an evil, which no newspaper man would deny. But the newspaper that minimizes crime to the possible limit loses patronage. It could not long compete with the rivals frankly erring, and often indecent.

The former Los Angeles Tribune tried to be clean to the utmost. It treated of crime only as fully as necessary to make the record. The Tribune is a memory now. In the present state of morals and manners, any paper following its example closely is has'ening to the condition of being a memory. Many newspapers seek a middle course, regretful that they are unable to be absolute in the refusal to cater to the tastes of readers. Many readers who deplore the spectacle of crime on parade, throw aside the paper that does not conduct such a parade, and reach for one full of murder, sob-sister slush, bogus interviews with prisoners, heart-ache stories about the beauty or the sorrow, or the fine intellect, of one who deserves to be hanged, as everybody knows.

The abundance of crime is due to disrespect for law. That is the whole matter. For this disrespect lawyers and jurists and small politicians are responsible to such degree that they can't pass responsibility to the journalist and cause it to remain there unquestioned.

There was a plan for establishment of a Japanese agricultural colony in Mexico. It seems to have been formed without consultation with the Mexican government. The view of the government is adverse to the project, and appears to be final.

Reported finding of diamonds near Riverside probably will not be taken even with salt. However, the discovery of these stones in quantity somewhere, would be an interesting event.

Diamonds are precious only because scarce, and scarce only because the product is controlled by a monopoly.

* * *

Driving his automobile past a railway station in Philadelphia, a banker of that city killed three people. He went on without stopping, the crimsoned front of his machine decorated with trophies of the slaughter. Now he is in jail. It must be long before he rightfully could be permitted elsewhere.

The man is said to have been intoxicated, to have been breaking the speed law, to have violated the requirement that a driver stop after an accident. The prohibition law also seems to have been ignored by him.

A familiar charge is that the rich can evade justice. This will afford an excellent chance for a practical test.

* * *

A group of vaudeville actors brought whisky into this country from Canada. A federal grand jury failed to indict them. Later the government confiscated the whisky, and mulcted the innocent folk $5 a bottle.

There surely must be small satisfaction in beating the prohibition law and having to go thirsty after all.

A legal aid society tells wives not to spend too much time with their mothers, which is exceellent counsel.

Many a family has broken up in a row because the wife did not realize that she was at the head of a household of her own, and that interference on the part of her mother, however well intended, was likely to be the beginning of the rift in the lute.

It is said that the Krupps have invested vast sums in Russian land. German capitalists are credited with having made a loan of ten million pounds in England.

The theory has been advanced that Germany is desperately poor. It seems in conflict with the investments mentioned. Probably this is one thing that steels the heart of France, on the scene in the capacity of collector. Naturally it believes that if the debtor country is producing great wealth, the policy that diverts this to private pockets is not flawless.

President Holden of the Burlington has outlined a great scheme for railway consolidation. It is now under consideration by the interstate commission.

Concerning the merits of the idea there are opinions in more than plenty. It is a disadvantage to the student of the situation that these opinions should emanate from sources quite ignorant of the whole subject.

On the desert island of San Miguel a woman watched by the side of her dead husband for days, meanwhile vainly trying to signal some passing vessel. The time came when burial was essential. With the aid of the only other resident of the island, a coffin was fashioned, and thereafter the woman watched by a grave.

At last a vessel saw the signs of distress and came to the rescue.

Truly a sad incident of the off-shore waters.

WATCHING THE PARADE

BY JOHN PILGRIM

In this morning's paper I find this sapient paragraph, which is high brow for wise crack:

"There comes a time in the life of every salaried man when he no longer anticipates a raise—his thoughts are centered on how drastic will be the cut."

The answer is yes, or perhaps no. It depends on the man. The way to dig in against that sort of an anticipation is twofold. Either make one's self so indispensable that when one walks into the captain's office and says:

"How about a few sheckels in the Saturday manila, boss?"

One gets it without any more demur than any self-respecting manager is compelled to make to keep his face straight. Or else find another job that suits one's particular angles before the blue envelope comes one's way. The way to make that sad anticipation a certainty is to hang on and on, just getting by, until the blow falls. The way to irretrievably gum up one's life affairs is to sit steady in the boat, neither trying to rock it or drive it upstream. If a smash is to come isn't it better to smash while one is young enough to stand it, rather than wait until the aged bones crack when the car goes into the ditch?

Which recalls the story of Harold Everest, who used to be the room clork at the hotel. Harold had worked there so long that he no longer bothered to keep his hair cut or replace his shoe heels before they became classic examples of inclined planes. Then he observed a nasty glitter in the boss's eye and quit.

Whereupon he organized a little company of his own. Made money at it. Total capital investment about $90. During those years of apparent somnolence he had not been completely asleep. Now he is older than he ever was, and is making more money than he ever dreamed of.

Instead of thinking in our off hours most of us go to the movies.

DO YOU KNOW THAT—?

AGNES AYRES IN "RACING HEARTS" IS VERY CLEVER

A new Agnes Ayres has come to the motion picture screen.

A tantalizing, vivacious girl with golden, bobbed hair, a flashing smile and sparkling eyes has taken the place of the serenely charming woman who starred in "The Daughter of Luxury" and "Borderland," the Paramount Pictures.

In "Racing Hearts," a Paramount Picture which opened at the T. D. and L. Theatre last night in which Miss Ayres is starred, she steps into an entirely new character. As the peppy young daughter of an automobile manufacturer who is steadily going into bankruptcy, she displays unusual enthusiasm.

"Racing Hearts" is unique for many reasons. First, because it serves to introduce this new Agnes Ayres to the screen. Second, because as the driver of a high-powered automobile in the thrilling race climax, she is the first woman of the screen to pilot a racing car in actual contest. In addition, it again brings Miss Ayres and Theodore Roberts to the screen as daughter and father, the previous occasion having taken place three years ago during the production of "Too Much Speed," in which Wallace Reid starred for Paramount. Richard Dix, leading man, is excellent in his impersonation. The cast generally is high grade.

"THIRD ALARM" TO CLOSE RECORD RUN AT GLENDALE

This will be the last night of the great thrilling drama, "The Third Alarm," at the Glendale theatre. It is expected that there will be less of a crowd this evening than on each of the record nights heretofore of the four days' run. The percentage to the firemen's benefit fund will be the greatest ever known for any benefit fund, fi the attendance fills the house again tonight.

Outside of the benefit to the local firemen's relief fund the show itself is one of the most spectacular ever presented in Glendale. It si well acted and it is instructive in that it presents fire fighting as it really is.

DR. H. V. BROWN SELLS ORANGE STREET PROPERTY

Dr. Harry V. Brown, who up to several days ago, owned the property at 144 North Orange street, has sold that property to a newcomer to Glendale.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Hagin, with Mrs. Hagin's mother, Mrs. L. J. Willett, who formerly occupied this property, have moved to 624 Howard street, which property was purchased by Mrs. Willett.

CITY ACTORS WANT MORE SINGERS FOR SHOW

The Glendale Community Players need two or three amateur or semi-professional singers for solo work in the musical comedy which they are now rehearsing and will produce some time in April. A bass or baritone, a tenor, and a couple of women soloists could be used. Anybody able to do specialties or vaudeville turns could be included in this comedy or future productions, if he or she is willing to join the Community Players. The contest closes Saturday next and the winner will be announced on Sunday, March 11.

The tract owned by Mr. Stires is located on San Fernando road just west of Glendale. It has a glorious view of Griffith Park and the mountains and many of the lots have producing grape vines.

At the time of filing such notice the sum of Five ($5.00) Dollars shall be deposited with the City Clerk, and without such deposit the appeal shall have no effect. The City Clerk shall thereupon notify the City Electrician of the appeal. At its next meeting after the filing of such notice of appeal, or at any time to which the matter may be continued, the City Council shall hear and promptly determine all questions raised by such appeal.
